Abwood

Background

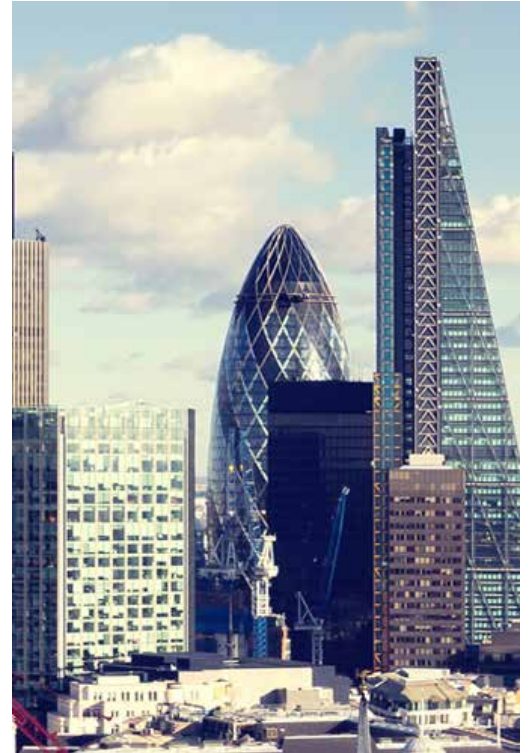

Abwood are a leading specialist in marine engineering, and diving services in London. Their workforce relied on a small computer network running as a work group.

The Challenges

Although small, they needed a reliable and cost effective system. Working from anywhere was a key requirement, as was their reliance on Blackberries.

The Solution

The Blackberries had previously relied on POP3 Support, which results in duplicating email between the PC and the Blackberry. Switching to Blackberry Enterprise Server meant that email comes in real time and all Calendars and Contacts are Synchronised.

The Results

Centralised access to their files and folders allows them to work from anywhere, and even their Sage accounts system is integrated.
